

The SUNY Plattsburgh Institute for Ethics in Public Life presents

Religious Studies at a Public University

Mar. 26 (W) at 3:30 in person or on Zoom (see below)

Religion is a significant part of every human society, but it is also intensely personal for many people. This, combined with the constitutional requirement that public institutions be neutral with regard to religion in the United States, raises questions about the incorporation of religions studies into the curriculum at public institutions like SUNY Plattsburgh. These include whether to include religious studies in the curriculum, where and how to do so, and what considerations instructors need to take into account when teaching about religion.

We welcome special guests Mr. Robert Harsh, M.Div, retired EOP counselor, adjunct instructor, and past Institute Fellow, and Dr. Andrew Buckser, Professor of Anthropology and Director of the Jewish Studies Program, to help us understand this important topic. This forum is an opportunity for students, faculty, administrators, staff, alumni, and community members to come together and learn about this issue.

Join us in person in Hawkins 233 (the Institute offices) or on Zoom at <https://plattsburgh.zoom.us/j/83044544565>
