

The SUNY Plattsburgh Institute for Ethics in Public Life presents
"Should We Ban Screens from the Classroom?"
Mar. 25 (W) at 3:30 in person or on Zoom (see below)

Over the last two decades classrooms have been transformed by widespread use of computers, tablets, and other educational technology as a way to improve student learning and provide more equitable education.

In recent years, we are seeing a pushback against this extensive adoption of edtech. Critics argue that it has contributed to youth mental health problems and actually harmed student learning while funneling public money to private corporations.

Should we reverse this process, and start to remove technology from classrooms?

We welcome special guests Dr. Heidi Schnackenberg, Co-Chair and Professor of Education, Dr. Kathryn Alton, Assistant Professor of Education, Mr. Adam Staab, NYS Master Teacher, High School Mathematics Teacher, Copenhagen Central School District and Ms. Hannah Anctil, Teacher Candidate, SUNY Plattsburgh, to help us understand this important topic. This panel discussion is an opportunity for students, faculty, administrators, staff, alumni, and community members to come together and learn about this issue.

Join us in person in Hawkins 233 (the Institute offices) or on Zoom at <https://plattsburgh.zoom.us/j/83209769108>
